Council Wants Another Look At Civic Center, Downtown Parking Plans

The Carmel City Council last night tangled with the problem of four-legged versus four-wheeled motive power for vehicles within the city, and places to park them downtown, then decided to back off and take another look.

Another study also was voted on a proposal to sign a contract with an architectural firm to go ahead with plans for the new civic center, even though the plans already have been drawn and were formally received by the governing body.

At one point, the council had denied a request to reconsider its earlier action allowing a horse and carriage concession to operate within the city. Then, it started to deny an application of Shepard Peterson of Carmel for a reserved parking stall for his limousine service, and others for city taxis.

Because the council has approved two reserved stalls for the carriage concession, it was asked if, perhaps, denying the others might not be construed as "discrimination."

At this point, Councilman Steve Grant proposed the vote on the plea to reconsider the carriage proposal be reversed, saying that each stall is "worth $5,000 to the city and maybe the whole matter should be shelved."

The council decided to hold the whole problem over for a special adjourned meeting in City Hall Monday at 8 p.m. At this time it also will take up a proposal to sign a contract with the firm of Burde, Shaw & Associates, architects, on the civic center.

This was held over because no agreement could be reached, after an hour's debate, on cost estimates—which have risen from $227,000 a year ago to $335,000—or on a proposal to pay the architects for work already performed and for which a $12,064 bill has been presented. The council did receive the final working plans already prepared, but held off approval until Monday.

Authorization was given to install two Town & Country-type street lights on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh Streets as a test to determine public acceptance before more are installed, but a proposal to start with phase one of the civic center was postponed.

An attempt to revive an already killed issue, that of giving the city control over the cutting and trimming of trees on private property, was held over for another month, but two other proposals advanced by Councilman Gunnar Norberg were given short shrift. The council voted down:

—A proposal to pay councilmen for their work. They now serve

Bair Is Quizzed On CUSD Program

Members of the Carmel Suburban Area Council, during a meeting at Carmel Middle School Monday evening, made it abundantly clear that they agreed neither with Carmel Schools Superintendent Medill Bair nor with the program, present and projected, of the Carmel Unified School District.

Following Bair's brief presentation of the financial situation of the district, and its necessity for additional funds, he was pointedly questioned for over 40 minutes by those in the audience, most of whom disputed the validity of figures given by him.

With respect to the budget, Harold Arnot wished to know what is represented by "non educational expense." Bair explained that the accounting practice includes transportation, maintenance, etc., items required by state law to be placed in a certain category. Also concerning state law, he pointed out in answer to a query on adult education, there would be little saving if the state-supported program were eliminated. Arnot and John J. Walsh suggested that adult education classes nevertheless should be discontinued.

Major General James H. Phillips (USA ret) expressed the opinion that the district should provide only basic education. Swimming pools and other "frills," he maintained, are not a basic need.

Stating, as did several speakers that he was in favor of education, Walsh maintained that teacher and administrator salaries could well be lowered without detriment to the schools; also that parents should be required to provide or pay for transportation for children unable to walk to school.

Superintendent Bair again spoke of state law requirements with respect to such items as transportation. As to teachers, to compete with other districts for experienced, top-rate educators is impossible at the present salary schedule, he explained. Additionally, Bair said, a program to reward gifted teachers would be of inestimable value to the children

Baldwin, Jensen Will Seek Council Seats In Election

Carvel Baldwin, a retired bank executive, and Eric V. Jensen, operator of the Coast Counties Fire Extinguisher Co., have announced their intent to seek seats on the Carmel City Council in the April 12 election.

Others who have so far announced a similar intent are the incumbent, Mayor Herbert Blanks; William Sefton and Dr. James Gilman.

Baldwin, in a prepared statement released this morning, says he made the decision to run because "I have the time and the desire to serve the City of Carmel by giving of myself to help keep this the beautiful community we chose as our retirement home."

Jensen, who came here eight years ago to visit, and decided to stay, is a volunteer member of the fire department. He believes this experience qualifies him to make this statement:

"Many of the problems which have arisen in the last few years could have easily been solved had there been better communications between the department and the volunteers with the city council."

Both Baldwin and Jensen are firm in their opposition to plans of the Humble Oil Company to erect a refinery in Monterey County.

The text of Baldwin's statement follows:

"I am a retired bank executive with 34 years in banking. During my career I was chief appraiser in the real estate loan field, personnel, operations and loan officer, and was a member of the investment committee for the trust department."

"I was on the Board of Governors for the Altadena Town & Country Club as well as treasurer and assistant house chairman. I was western area chairman in Pasadena for the American Red Cross and Cancer Drives."

"My wife, Violet Louise, and I have owned our home at 12th and Camino Real in Carmel for seven years. Violet is co-chairman for the blood program of the Carmel chapter, Red Cross."

"I was a member of the Citizens

Enrollment Up In Carmel Schools

As of January 8, total enrollment in the Carmel Unified School District was 2808, compared with 2655 in June, 1965, according to figures presented to the board of education at its meeting last night in Brey Hall at Carmel High School. In record time, the trustees dispatched items on an uncomplicated agenda, holding in abeyance only a request from a private group for continued use of school property.

Accepted with regret were the resignations of three Middle School teachers, Mrs. Dolores Dresser, part-time seventh and eighth grade typing teacher; Mrs. Jean White, physical education instructor who has been on leave of absence without pay; and Frederick Upham, social science teacher. Approval of the employment of Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell to replace Mrs. Dresser was voted.

In other action last night, the trustees authorized Superintendent Medill Bair to prepare and submit an application for funds for library books and other library

Smog Fighters Vow No End In Humble Battle

"The fight is not over by a long ways."

This, in essence, is how Monterey Peninsula opponents of the proposal of the Humble Oil & Refining Company to build a refinery at Moss Landing, reacted this week to word that their efforts to obtain a referendum on the question had been denied.

Superior Court Judge Richard F. Harris of San Luis Obispo

County, who heard the case when Monterey County Superior Court Judges Gordon Campbell and Stanley Lawson disqualified themselves, turned down the appeal in a 14-page decision.

Judge Harris ruled that the Monterey County Board of Supervisors gave the oil company a permit for the refinery when the board "met in administrative, and not legislative session," as alleged by the Six Cities Fund.

Because Judge Harris' decision was so long in forthcoming, William H. Church, a leader in the fight, declared "we must surely have a lot of legal weight to our complaint."

Carmel City Attorney William B. Burleigh noted the judge's decision against the referendum will not become effective for two weeks. The Six Cities Fund adherents then will have 60 days to amend their case and appeal it to a higher court.

"This," Burleigh declared, "we intend to do."

The two months also will be devoted to regrouping forces and enlisting more support from anti-smog devotees from Salinas as far south as King City.

"There have been a number of organizations which have pledged their support in our intent to keep an oil refinery, or any similar chemical and smog producing industry, away from Moss Landing," Burleigh said.

Some of those whose support has already been pledged are the American Association of University Women, horticulturists and flower groups in Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties, the Pacific Grove Chamber of Commerce, the

Bike Contest Is On Again - Saturday

The rained-out Carmel Annual Bicycle Rodeo, which was postponed last Saturday when the weather was not too conducive to bike-riding, has been rescheduled for this Saturday by the sponsoring agencies.

Beginning at 9 a.m., the event will take place at the north playfield of Sunset Center and the stress will be on safety. Some of the features will include balance, stopping, starting, signalling and turning. A slow race and running an obstacle course are others.

Anyone who likes to ride a bicycle (even adults) will be welcomed by the Carmel Police Department, the Carmel Unified School District's recreation department and the Carmel Kiwanis Club, which will donate prizes for skill. (Adults are not eligible for prizes.)

Bikes will be checked by a mechanic, and those deemed not safe will have a notice sent home to the parents. Riders who pass the safety tests will get their 1966 bike licenses from the police department.

To Wall-Walkers: Relief Coming

The sight of women precariously tip-toeing atop the wall which borders Devendorf Park in Carmel on Sixth Street between Mission and Junipero Streets is enough to test the courage of any man.

When William L. Askew, Jr., the city superintendent of public works saw this not once, but several times, he decided it was time something was done to provide safer, and more down-to-earth passage than was available via the wall.

Askew's crews are at work installing a 4-foot sidewalk, where none existed before, inside the wall, plus another wall to stop the erosion of park property. A hand-rail will be built as a safety measure in the $350 project.

The block-long job is scheduled for completion at the end of next week.

Ovation For County Symphony's Virtuosity At Tuesday Concert

By JACK BENSON

The Monterey County Symphony, under the direction of John Gosling, scored another triumph last Tuesday evening with its performance of Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition." Now in its 20th anniversary season, the orchestra has already turned out memorable performances of such major works as Brahms' "First Symphony" (in October) and the "Fantasy Overture, Romeo and Juliet" by Tchaikowsky (in December).

The Moussorgsky "Pictures," as orchestrated by Ravel, was, in many ways, the greatest challenge of the season. The combination of the Russian's powerfully expressionistic musical architecture and the Frenchman's rich orchestral palette produced a score which demands virtuosity on a grand scale. Maestro Gosling and the Monterey County Symphony met these demands with extraordinary success, and were awarded an ovation by the capacity audience in Sunset auditorium.

Earlier, Rolf Storseth was soloist in the "Concerto for Cello and Orchestra in D Major" by Haydn. His cadenzas were arresting in contrast to the over-all performance, which had some unevenness in pitch and rhythm. This was surprising since Storseth is the orchestra's principal cellist and one might expect a smoother collaboration.

Another guest, a composer, was present for a performance of his short piece called "Orchestral Design." This was David Mulder, who is presently a teacher of music in the Salinas public schools. Although composed in 1961, Mulder's work dates much earlier in this century in its style and compositional technique. The performance it received was highly respectable.

A number of other guests were present for Tuesday's concert, including George Nagata, concertmaster; Ernestine Riedel, violin; Harry Rimpler, viola; Philip Karp, double-bass; and Richard Grauel, oboist, whose excellent solo on the saxophone was heard in the Moussorgsky.

Free Film At MPC

"The Best Years of Our Lives," a memorable American film made in 1946, will open the Spring film series at Monterey Peninsula College tomorrow at 7 and 9 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall.

Directed by William Wyler, the moving drama of problems of personal and social readjustment of returning war veterans stars Dana Andrews, as a former bombardier; Frederic March, as an ex-infantry sergeant; and Harold Russell, as an ex-sailor who has lost both his hands.

The large cast also includes Myrna Loy, Teresa Wright, Virginia Mayo, Cathy O'Donnell and Hoagy Carmichael.

PANCAKE SALES WILL HIT $77 MILLION

Robert W. Eriksen, the local manager and co-owner of Sambo's Pancakes, located in the Carmel Plaza, has returned from the 8th annual meeting of Sambo executives held in San Francisco.

Eriksen reports that Sambo's, which operates 45 restaurants throughout the west, projects a sales volume of $17 million for 1966 and will add 16 new restaurants during the year, expanding their operations into at least two more states. Presently the Sambo operations cover Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Arizona.

Spring Start For New Shop Center

A start by late spring is seen for a multimillion dollar shopping center and business complex scheduled for a 40-acre tract where Rio Road intersects State Highway 1 in the Carmel area.

The developers, the Carmel Properties Co., report the signing of a 20 year lease with the Safeway Co., for the first of several proposed units which will ultimately include a 160-unit hotel, a bank, bakery, snack bar, delicatessen and liquor stores. Hall and Goodhue of Monterey are the architects.

A. W. Clark, a spokesman for the developers, said plans for the Safeway store are now in the "working drawing" stage, as are plans for the hotel. The Safeway establishment will contain about 30,000 square feet, or nearly twice the size of the company's outlet in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Gus H. Parker, Safeway's regional vice president, said the latter store will be remodeled. The proposed new store will bring to nine the number of Safeway's operations in this area.

Speaking of plans, Clark noted that "architecturally speaking we are aiming for one of the most aesthetically pleasing shopping centers on the Monterey Peninsula." He added hopes the first units will be ready for occupancy by next Christmas.

COMMUNITY CHURCH HONORS MEMBERS

Tonight at the Carmel Woman's Club hall, the members of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula will gather for a buffet-dinner and business meeting.

The meeting will give particular recognition to the large group of new members who have joined during the past year. Mrs. Willis I. Shepard, membership director, has reported almost forty new names in the past year.

Carl Bosholm, president of the member-body, will preside and discuss final consideration of the Walter Burde plans for the new church building. Mrs. John W. Farr, fellowship director, promises that the buffet-dinner, which will precede the business meeting, will be different, but good.

DR. BELL SPEAKS FOR KIWANIS

The Carmel Kiwanis Club presented Dr. Richard Bell, head of the department of aeronautics at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, as their guest speaker at Thursday's luncheon meeting.

Bell explained the function of the school as providing advanced education for naval officers and gave a brief resume of its history.

The graduate school was relocated in Monterey in early 1952, after 47 years in Annapolis. Since 1956, it has accorded degrees on three levels, bachelor, master and doctor of philosophy.

Artellan Will Head Muscular Dystrophy Drive In Carmel

Paul T. Artellan, past commander of the Carmel Post 512, American Legion, has been appointed campaign chairman for the 1966 March for Muscular Dystrophy in the Carmel, outer Carmel and Big Sur Areas.

Artellan will direct the appeal in the Carmel area for funds to support research into the crippling, fatal disease and to maintain and expand the network of clinics and patient services provided through Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc.

Orencio Perez, past 28th district commander, of Seaside; Ben Viljoen of Carmel Valley, and Alvin Wagner, commander, Monterey Cypress Post 694, and Commander Kerman Alderson, Carmel Post 512, have been appointed co-chairman for the march in their respective towns.

Muscular Dystrophy is a crippling disease which progressively attacks the muscles and eventually renders the victim completely helpless. There are more than 250,000 victims, most of them children, in whom the disease is always fatal. There is no known cause or cure as yet.

Primary goal of the newly-appointed chairman is to kick-off the drive with an area wide teen tag-day on Saturday, which will signify the beginning of canister distribution and complete mail-out campaign in the areas.

Teen tag-day chairmen on the Peninsula are: Roger Johnson, first vice commander, Sons of the American Legion, Seaside Post; Miss Marcia Adams, Junipero Memorial High School, and Pam Baldwin, Carmel Youth Center president in 1965.

"The only way to wipe out muscular dystrophy is through medical research," Artellan said. "But it requires a tremendous amount of money and we need all the help we can get. I earnestly urge all public-spirited citizens to join in this great crusade and give generously to the teen tag-day and, when you receive your appeal through the mail, respond as quickly as possible."

The 1966 march for muscular dystrophy has been endorsed by the nation's uniformed and volunteer fire fighters, members of fraternal organizations, youth groups, teenagers and thousands of individuals, many of whom will participate in door-to-door collections during the nationwide appeal.

STURGEON GETS RULES JOB AGAIN

State Senator Vernon L. Sturgeon has been re-elected by a unanimous vote of the senate to serve through the forthcoming year as a member of the senate rules committee.

Sturgeon, a milk distributor in private life, presently represents San Luis Obispo County in the state senate. Because of reapportionment he is also a candidate in the new 17th Senatorial District which includes San Benito, Santa Cruz, Monterey, and San Luis Obispo Counties.

The committee on rules is charged with the general responsibility for the administrative functioning of the senate, appoints all other committees of the senate, and names the chairmen and vice-chairmen of each committee.

The rules committee members are Hugh M. Burns (Fresno), chairman, "J" Eugene McAteer (San Francisco), Stephen P. Teale (West Point), all Democrats; Sturgeon and John F. McCarthy (San Rafael) Republicans.

Boheme In English For Music Society

Puccini's "La Boheme," sung in English by the Goldovsky Opera Theatre, will be presented by the Carmel Music Society on February 17 at Sunset Center auditorium. Described by Newsweek Magazine as "a rousing success," the production includes a cast of 50, including principal singers, orchestra, conductor and technical staff.

The director, known to millions as "Mr. Opera" for his trenchant intermission commentaries on the weekly Saturday matinee network broadcasts from New York's Metropolitan Opera House, has been responsible for training the troupe. In putting the libretto into English, Goldovsky remarks that "it will be made into living theater for a 20th century American audience."

Consumer Counsel At MPC

California Consumer Counsel Helen Nelson will speak in the library lecture hall at Monterey Peninsula College on February 17 at 8 p.m. The address by a champion of consumers is sponsored by the Consumers' Co-operative Society of the Monterey Peninsula as an educational service at no charge to the public.

Pam Petersen Is A Bride

Saturday's drenching rain could not subdue the fragrance of the white gladioli, chrysanthemums, carnations and greenery which flanked the altar of All Saints' Episcopal Church for the marriage of Pamela Petersen to Floyd Robertson Smith of Moraga. The mid-afternoon ceremony was performed by the Reverend Lloyd Johnston, new assistant pastor of the church.

Pamela, given in marriage by her father, Maynard C. Petersen of Carmel, wore a full-length gown of "Saki," fashioned with short sleeves and flowing back tiers accented by cotton lace. Her English illusion veil was held by a cluster of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of white tulips, carnations, bouvardia and a touch of white heather.

Mrs. Paul Jones Jr. of Half Moon Bay was her sister's matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. S.F.B. Morse III, an old friend and former schoolmate; Mrs. Jay Stone of Davis, Miss Terry Emmons of Arcadia and Miss Gaile Davis of Boulder Creek.

They were dressed in identical empire-styled gowns in hues of rose and mortar, accented by velvet bands ending in a bow with floor-length streamers. Each carried a nosegay in shades of pink, consisting of tulips, carnations and a bit of purple heather.

Raymond Di Giulio of Davis served as best man. Seating the guests were the bride's brothers, Maynard C. Petersen Jr. and Timothy Petersen of Carmel, Jon Scribner of Weed and Ronald Long of Tulare.

Mrs. Petersen greeted guests wearing a pink silk suit with matching accessories, while the groom's mother chose a suit of pale green silk accented with a purple hat and bone accessories.

During the reception which followed at La Playa Hotel Terrace Room, the newlyweds were serenaded by the bridegroom's Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity brothers of the University of California at Davis, from which Pamela and Floyd graduated in January.

Mrs. Milo J. North was here from Belmont to attend the wedding of her granddaughter.

The bride, a lifelong Carmelite, graduated from both Sunset and Carmel High Schools. Before enrolling at U.C. Davis, she was a student at the University of Colorado, where she was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority. Pamela also studied at the University of Madrid last year and spent the summer traveling in Europe with her brothers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Smith of Moraga, attended El Cerrito High School and received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from U.C. Davis last month. At Davis he was president of his fraternity, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

After tossing her bouquet, Pam donned a suit of beige suede for traveling. When the newlyweds return from a skiing honeymoon at Incline Village they will make their home in Walnut Creek.

Mexican Fiesta Planned

Mrs. Elizabeth Touche will be the hostess of a Mexican-theme fiesta to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Smith on Saturday. The party is "just for fun," Miss Touche remarked. "The guests will wear Mexican costumes and we shall have Mexican food, Margaritas, and music, live with mariachis."

The guests will be some of Miss Touche's former co-workers at the Casa Manana, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lofink, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stock and Mr. and Mrs. Brendon Seaborn. Others are Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson of Santa Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Maharas, Mr. and Mrs. Luis Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Luis Aranda, Miss Ivonne Arras, Mr. and Mrs. John Geisen, John Geisen Jr., and Mrs. Jane Vial, all of Carmel, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woods of Pebble Beach.

Maria Antonia Is Engaged

Carmel friends of Dr. and Mrs. Emile Ramos of Salinas will be interested to know they have announced the engagement of their daughter, Maria Antonia, to Eduardo Ospina Garces in an unusually impressive religious ceremony last week.

A family friend from Spain, Father Rodriguez, read in Spanish the Blessings of the Rings before a group of family members and intimate friends, after which a champagne supper was held at the Ramos home.

The bride-to-be, a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls, studied at the University of Madrid and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. J. F. Williams of Salinas, and Senora Emilio Ramos and the late Emilio Ramos of Fresno.

Eduardo is a graduate of Colegio Berchmans, Cali, Colombia, South America and the University of California at Berkeley. Mr. and Mrs. Eduardo Ospina of Cali and Bogota, Colombia, South America, are his parents. He is the brother of Mrs. J. M. Sierra of Berkeley, Helena Ospina, who is attending George Washington University in Washington, D.C., Sebastian Ospina, a student at the University of Southern California, and Antonio Ospina, who attends prep school in Massachusetts.

His grandparents are Mr. Sebastian Ospina, former consul for Colombia in San Francisco, and Mrs. Ospina and Mrs. Helen Garces and the late Mario Garces.

A late summer wedding on the Monterey Peninsula is planned.

John Geisen Home

Sp 4 John B. Geisen Jr., HHT 4, 7th Cavalry, returned home last week from Korea where he was located for a year and a month one mile south of North Korea on the western part of the border at Freedom Bridge.

At the end of his month's leave, he will resume his obligations of 23 more months' service in the United States.

John has been a resident of Carmel, off and on, since 1942 and attended Sunset School before going East for prep schools and college. He has many relatives as well as friends in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geisen, who were overjoyed to see John, entertained at a small brunch for him on Sunday. As the group sat about enjoying the delicious feast which Michelle Geisen prepared, John told of many interesting occasions and situations which arose during his stay in Korea.

After the festive luncheon, the Geisens and their guests trooped to the beach to walk and search the tideline for treasures.

Rotarians Hear About Art

Carmel Rotarians were told yesterday it is time Americans started to concentrate on their own art history, and heritage, rather than stressing "the importance" of foreign artists.

Meeting for luncheon in the La Playa Hotel, the clubmen heard William Stone, an art teacher at the Carmel High School, declare that American artists are producing high quality art and now are in worldwide competition for recognition.

Stone traced American art from the time of John Copley to the present and showed slides of some memorable canvasses done by citizens of this country. Club President Thomas Tonkin presided.

Carleton Takes Band Tour

Carleton Macy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Macy of Carmel, is touring Northern California this week with the University of Redlands Concert Band.

The 53-member band is presenting 12 concerts during the six-day tour, which began Tuesday in Lancaster and concludes in the Bay Area. Macy, a senior, plays the french horn in the band. He will be featured as soloist in the number "Allegro from Concerto for Horn."

James R. Jorgenson is director of the group and is also vice-president of the College Band Directors National Association which will hold its Western Division Conference on Saturday in Stockton. Jorgenson and the concert band will attend the conference.

Mons Cedercrutz Scores High

Mons Cedercrutz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Cedercrutz of Carmel Point, was one of the high scorers of the Robert Louis Stevenson School "Snow Birds," members of the ski club, who took second place in a tri-school meet at Squaw Valley. Mons' best time was 38.0.

Rating first for RLS was Howard Hickingbotham who placed third in individual competition, with Nelson Randick and Dean Beamon of Fleur du Lac School taking first and second places.

Fleur du Lac was top school and the Menlo Prep School was third.

New PIO Assumes Duty

Lieutenant Commander Arthur Widder has assumed the duties of public information officer at the Naval Postgraduate School, replacing Commander Lawrence R. Bemis who has retired.

Enjoyed Poetry Reading

Mrs. Edward G. Kuster was hostess Saturday for a delightful gathering of old-time Carmelites, who listened to Mrs. Louis Mayer (Dora Hagemeier) read selections of her poetry.

Mrs. Mayer enchanted the audience with her poems for children, some of which were written for and about specific youngsters. Two of the longest poems she read were "Ianthus" and "The Ballad of Gaea's Cloak," described by the guests as dramatic and moving. She recited many other poems, some of which have appeared in The Carmel Pine Cone or in book form and others which are unpublished. Mrs. Mayer was for several years the poetry editor of The Pine Cone.

Dog Show Winners

This week, news was received of other winners from Carmel in the Golden Gate Kennel Club's 56th annual all breed dog show which took place in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

They are Kathy Parker and Mary Barron, students at Carmel High School. Kathy won best of breed and first place in the hound group with her Norwegian elkhound. Mary won third place in the novice group with her Irish setter, County Cork's Lady Kate.

Carmel Police Check Robberies, Vandals

Under investigation this week by Carmel police are two burglaries and 17 complaints of vandalism.

Friday night or early Saturday morning, an estimated $1,200 worth of jewelry and Chinese objects d'art were taken from an outside display case of Parsons of Carmel. Tuesday, the Modern Eve Shop was the victim of thieves who made off with 50 to 60 imported knit suits valued at approximately $3,000. According to the police, the robberies appear to have been the work of professionals, possibly the same person or persons in both cases.

Complaints of vandalism which took place Saturday night, included 13 that convertible car tops had been slashed, antennas broken, tail lights smashed and sideview mirrors ripped off. A lighted name sign was destroyed in front of the residence of J. J. Jacobs at San Antonio and Eighth; pickets were torn from a fence at the John Thompson home, Camino Real and Ocean; outside lights destroyed at the Joseph Marasco home on Torres. Reported Tuesday was another case of an auto antenna broken off.

Julia Spencer Lozana of Seaside, wanted as a suspect of check forgeries, was apprehended early Tuesday in a Carmel motel after Sergeant Bob Fischer spotted her car parked outside. The woman had been the object of a Peninsula-wide search after a warrant had been issued charging her with using stolen checks bearing the name of Jane C. Sambolin of Fort Ord.

Earlier in the day, nine local merchants complained they had cashed checks for her which appeared to be forgeries. Mrs. Lozana was released to the custody of Monterey police.

CHOCOLATE BARS

The band and choir club members of Carmel High School are still selling those delicious chocolate candy bars in an effort to raise enough money to take a week-end skiing trip in the middle of April. The students would like to go to Dodge Ridge or some place near Lake Tahoe.

Still available are about $100 worth of candy bars at 50 cents apiece which can be obtained from any band or choir member, or from the music department of the school.

Speakers On Literacy

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Boyer were guests speakers yesterday for the members of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild on the topic, "Aspects of Literacy in South America."

Mr. and Mrs. Boyer made annual trips to Mexico for several years where they worked for the literacy project, Casa de Alfabetización. Boyer became regional director in Latin America for the Laubach Literacy Mission Fund in 1962.

The couple left their successful careers of music and art in Carmel, and went to South America to train hundreds of teachers to help illiterates, and later spent a year with the Peace Corps in Colombia.

They left South America at the end of 1964, and traveled to Europe, where they lived most of 1965 in Germany, devoting their time to getting back into activities of music and art. Part of these activities included their attendance at the Bayreuth and Prades Festivals.

The Boyers are again residing in Carmel, where Boyer has resumed his career as a solo pianist and Mrs. Boyer is again exhibiting with the Carmel Art Association.

A Reunion And A Party

Heidi Ruster, daughter of John J. Ruster, also returned home for the semester break week from San Francisco State College where she is a sophomore majoring in art. While home, Heidi, and her grandmother, Mrs. Robert Oberföhrer of Carmel, jointly celebrated their birthdays which fall on the first and second of February. The small family party was held in the home of the Rusters.

Newlyweds Take Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Arthur, the former Mrs. Herbert Spencer Wheeler of Carmel, were married Friday at the Carmel Presbyterian Church with the Reverend George Hunter Hall reading the service before a small group of intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Decosta were the couple's attendants.

After a small reception held at the Pebble Beach home of Mrs. Richard R. Townley, the couple left for a trip which will take them first to the South and later to New York and Washington, D.C. They will visit Mrs. Arthur's daughter, Mrs. Webster Griffith in Annapolis, Maryland.

Mrs. Arthur is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weyand of Altoona, Pennsylvania.

When the newlyweds return they will make their home in Menlo Park.

Lloyds Surprised With Party

Last Saturday, Lucinda Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, had some difficulty in coaxing her parents to return home, after attending the wedding and reception of Pamela Petersen and the cocktail and preview party at the Laky Galleries, for a surprise party which awaited them. She finally feigned sickness which immediately set them on their way.

At home, the Lloyds found their living room entirely decorated in a Hawaiian theme, with an abundance of coconuts, pineapples and gardenias, and their family and some friends dressed in the flowery printed attire of Hawaiian tradition.

The occasion for the party was the vacation that Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd will take for the next five or six weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. The Lloyd's children and their families who planned the party are Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Lloyd of Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis and their sons, Owen and Lloyd of Menlo Park, Mrs. Lucinda Williams of Carmel, and Mrs. Samuel F. Morse III of San Luis Obispo.

The Lloyds left yesterday for San Francisco where they will board the President Wilson on today and will arrive in Hawaii the following Tuesday.

French Consul Honored

The dinner which l'Alliance Francaise gave in honor of Mr. Claude Batault, the new Consul from France at San Francisco, was attended by fifty members of the local Alliance. A special guest was Professor Dwight W. Morrow Jr. of New Hope, Pennsylvania, who was a local resident during World War II. Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard Weiss of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies brought several of their students to the dinner held at La Playa Hotel on Friday. Among these was Miss Dieu Vien from Viet Nam. Others were past president Mrs. Salinger Carlson whose guests were Colonel and Mrs. Richard Long, Defense Language Institute, Professor Georges H. Picard and Mrs. Picard, Francois van der Wal, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oliver and Colonel and Mrs. James L. Hathaway. Mrs. David Pitfield had made the lovely tri-color table decorations and Consul Batault spoke about modern France. Henri Corbat, President, introduced guests of honor and committee members. Mrs. Corbat helped make the event the success that it was.

On February 9, Mrs. John Dowdakin entertained Alliance members at her residence at Country Club Drive, Carmel Valley at tea. Mrs. R. Cadle was the co-hostess.

On February 19, the Consul of Switzerland at San Francisco, Jean Studer, will come to Carmel to give a conference on Swiss literature. A small dinner at le Coq d'Or will precede the dinner.

There will be a costume ball at mid-Lent, March 18. The theme will be "Carnival in Tahiti" and guests should dress accordingly. This anticipated event will highlight the activities of l'Alliance and will take place at The Outrigger on Cannery Row. Further details will be announced later.

Carmel's First Woman Police Officer Wears Gold Badge No. 12

"So what's so different about a policeman—I mean a policeman—being a female," said vivacious Mrs. Virginia Lee Willis as she carefully polished Badge No. 12.

Policewoman Willis acknowledged that perhaps there may be something unique in the fact she is, Carmel's No. 1 distaff-side police officer, but outside of that, she insists, it is "no big thing."

The dark-haired matron, who resides in Pacific Grove, was sworn in as the Carmel Police Department's first woman officer Tuesday by City Clerk-Administrator Hugh Bayless as Chief Clyde P. Klaumann grinned his approval.

As she was presented with her badge, Klaumann said there is no particular significance to the fact it bears number 12, but mentioned that it was, perhaps, "the shiniest one not in use."

Police work, in a sense, is not new to Carmel's first policewoman. She has been a clerk with the California Highway Patrol in Seaside since 1963, and her official title with the Carmel PD also is clerk. Before joining the CHP, she worked at the Pine Inn.

"Most of my work will be with the public at the desk in police headquarters," she said, "as well as handling all arrest and other reports made by the officers. I guess the only time I will be involved in actual police work will be when I go with an officer to arrest a woman."

Klaumann nodded assent. "In time, I'll be assigned to work with the radio, dispatching officers (Carmel has 13 others), but most of my work will be typing reports and doing some of the other clerical jobs," she said. "Really, I'm looking forward to it."

Something else she is looking forward to with natural, and typical, womanly eagerness. This is the arrival of her brand new uniform, which she said probably will match, in most respects, the beige shirts and greenish trousers of the male officers. The difference, of course, will be a skirt.

Mrs. (excuse it, please: Policewoman) Willis lives with her husband, Dale, a traffic management specialist, at No. 1 Arkwright Court in Pacific Grove. They have two married daughters, and a son, Stephen, in the navy's boot camp in San Diego. They came here from Sacramento in 1958.

Policewoman Willis' new badge, incidentally, formerly was worn by Lester Fletcher before he was promoted to sergeant. She thinks it will look very nice on her new beige policewoman's blouse.

MRS. TUMBLESON, RAMBACH GET BANK PROMOTIONS

William A. Burkett, the president of Security National Bank of Monterey County, has announced the promotion of J. Scott Rambach from assistant vice president to vice president in charge of the credit department with responsibility for the supervision and administration of all bank loans.

Rambach is a graduate of Dartmouth College and also holds a master's degree in business administration from Cornell University Graduate School of Business. He began his banking career with the Detroit Bank and Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan, and his experience has been in commercial loans, business development, advertising and branch management.

Burkett has also announced the promotion of Mrs. Dorothy M. Tumbleson to manager of the Pacific Grove branch to succeed Troy S. Brannan, who has been named vice president and cashier. Mr. Brannan spent eighteen years with the Bank of America before joining Security National four years ago. Mrs. Tumbleson has been an employee of the Pacific Grove office of Security National Bank for the past 14 years.

SPOTS PLAN CARD PARTY

The SPOTS, a group known as Single People Over Thirty, are planning a St. Valentine's Day card party either tomorrow or Saturday night in a private home in Carmel.

Whose home, and exactly which night, is known only to Mrs. Claudine Van Vleet (624-8170) and her committee. So if you are interested, better call her.

Peggy Barrington provided the club's name at a party held in her Carmel Knolls home. A subsequent social gathering was held in the home of Eddy Dunn of Pacific Grove, and the group later was hosted by the Los Solteros, a single-group in Salinas.

Members of a temporary board include Kathleen Pilcher, chairman; Wally Barclay, vice chairman; Millie Doyle, secretary; John Sweeney, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Beth Keenan, social; Helen Comeaux, newsletter; Mrs. Van Vleet, publicity; Carol Flynn, interest group.

CRAFTS GUILD MEETS TOMORROW

William Stone, Carmel High School art instructor, will be guest speaker tomorrow at a meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild at 8 p.m. in the Carmel Art Association gallery. His subject, The History of American Painting, will be illustrated with color slides. Everyone interested in hearing Stone, or in crafts, is invited.

To be installed as guild officers for 1966 are Howell Armor, president; Joni Clayton, first vice-president; Frank Bell, second vice-president; Alma Anderson, secretary-treasurer; Doris Crabtree, corresponding secretary; Doris Ormsby, program chairman; Evelyn Seward, board member at large.

Individual Rights Subject Of Monday Lecture

"Individual Rights in Criminal and Civil Law" will be the subject of a lecture by Carmel attorney Gerald V. Barron in Brey Hall at Carmel High School on Monday at 8 p.m. The program is the second of a series of lectures on "The Law and the Citizen," co-sponsored by the American Association of University Women, the Monterey County Bar Association and the Carmel Adult School.

Barron served as assistant district attorney for Monterey County from 1949 to 1952 and was a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice in San Francisco from 1952 to 1964. From 1952 to 1961, he was engaged in general practice in Los Angeles, returning to the Monterey Peninsula in July, 1964. He was active in the campaign of Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a personal friend and former University of Minnesota classmate.

In the first lecture of the series this week, Dale Junta, Carmel attorney, spoke on "History of Jurisprudence," covering such areas as the derivation of law up to the present, the effect of common law and of case-made law, how case-made law is used by today's attorneys. Junta also described the scope and function of the various courts of the Monterey Peninsula area.

Security National Bank Merges With Big United California Bank Chain

The last remaining home-owned and independent bank on the Monterey Peninsula will merge its identity with one of California's banking titans at the close of business Friday, February 18th when the Security National Bank of Monterey County merges with the United California Bank.

The merger is announced this week by ailing William A. Burkett, the president and chairman of the board of Security, who says he is retiring but will stay on for 10 years as a consultant.

He said the merger announcement is being made following a 4-3 decision by the Federal Reserve System's board of governors in Washington ratifying the move.

Founded 77 years ago, Security National Bank first opened its doors in Pacific Grove, and since has spread to Carmel, Carmel Valley, New Monterey, Seaside and Marina.

From the four persons it employed at the start, the bank now employs 80, all of whom reportedly will stay at their positions under the merger.

Burkett purchased the controlling interest in the bank in 1961, and is credited with boosting its deposits from about $2 million to more than $19 million. The reported sale price of the bank to UCB is $4 million.

Security National Bank became widely known for its competitiveness and was the first bank in California to return to Saturday morning, and daily 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., banking. UCB has not announced whether it plans to continue this manner of operation.

"I regret the decision to sell the bank," Burkett told the Pine Cone yesterday, "but because of my health, the decision was necessary. I believe the merger will offer greater advantages to the bank's employees and the communities it serves. The United California Bank is one of the state's largest, is excellently managed and is an institution that will prove an asset to the Monterey Peninsula community.

Francis S. Baer of San Francisco is the chairman of the board for UCB. Baer said all of the bank's officers and personnel will be retained, and there will be no change in plans to proceed with the erection of a new downtown Monterey branch at Alvarado and Franklin Streets.

This new $400,000 structure is scheduled to start April 1, and should be ready for use by July 1.

Webster W. Downer, the manager of the Carmel branch of Security, said so far as he knows, no announcements have been made from San Francisco on future operating plans. He noted that talk of a merger began several months ago, but the required approval of the Federal Reserve System has not been forthcoming until now.

Apparently the only other UCB office in this vicinity currently is located in Salinas.

Alice Hammock

Funeral services for Alice Elizabeth Hammock, who died February 3 in a Santa Monica nursing home, were held Monday in the Paul Funeral Chapel with the Reverend H.M.M. Nicholas officiating.

A former Carmel resident, Mrs. Hammock was 82 and a native of Astoria, Oregon.

She is survived by a niece, Mrs. Walter Webb of Decatur, Georgia, and two cousins. She was the wife of the late Asa Hammock.

Friends wishing to make contributions in her memory may do so to the endowment fund of St. Mary's by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, Pacific Grove.

Inurnment followed at El Carmelo Cemetery Urn Garden. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Bertha Clarke

Miss Bertha Mays Clarke, who had been under medical care in a local nursing home for the past three years, died Sunday night. A resident of Santa Monica for the past 20 years, she came here to be near her brother and only survivor, George Clarke of Carmel.

Miss Clarke was born on February 15, 1893 in Syracuse, New York.

She was the daughter of Dr. John Mays Clarke, a former mayor of Redondo Beach, with whom she made her home for many years.

Private interment took place yesterday at Mountain View Cemetery, Altadena. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Martha Stanley

Graveside services were held Tuesday in Anderson, Indiana for Miss Martha P. Stanley, who died Saturday in a local hospital after a period of failing health.

Born May 13, 1886, in Wabash County, Indiana, she was a resident of Carmel for the past 11 years, having previously made her home in Santa Monica. She was a retired nurse.

Miss Stanley leaves three sisters, Miss May Stanley and Mrs. Arthur Shauer of Carmel and Mrs. Caroline Brunton of Santa Monica.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Film On Tibet At Sunset Tomorrow

"Trekking the Tibetan Border," a new travel-adventure film, will be screened at 8:15 p.m., tomorrow at Sunset Center auditorium. The film will be narrated in person by its photographer, Earl Brink.

Brink led an expedition that traveled to the Himalayas where the group scaled 16,000 foot passes and photographed these areas of the world for the first time. Highlights of the color film include the last wool train from Tibet, the Dalai Lama and his party, the Hunzas, Devil dancers, miles-high monasteries, age old city of Peshawar, Tibetan folklore group, Darjeeling tea plantations, Sikkim, Bhutan, and the Khyber Pass.

The film is part of the new Explorarama-Carmel series. Tickets at $1.75 will be on sale at the door or in advance from Central Box Office in Carmel.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

What a gala was the glamorous Heart Fund benefit sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association last Sunday! The French theme was dramatically carried out to make "The Year of the Frenchman" un succès fou. Rene Verdon, former head chef of the White House, led the panel of judges for the hors d'oeuvre contest. It was a difficult task since both professional and amateurs entered their amazing specialties. From a giant Alaska king crab to our local famous wild boar, the assortment was overwhelmingly ingenious. Verdon, by the way, told us that the three things he enjoyed most were to cook, to eat and to go fishing!

This intriguing event took place at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club whose chef had carved a beautiful heart from ice which centered the club's display of heart-shaped hors d'oeuvres. Unexpectedly, your party editor was awarded a blue ribbon for her modest contribution in the amateur class.

This leads us to the source of Phyllis Jervey's prize winning "Twin Aspics." A few days before the Heart Fund benefit, David Weaver, bachelor and bon vivant, introduced these hors d'oeuvres to us at a delightful luncheon at his Carmel Highlands home. He gave us his recipes and permission to enter them in the Heart Fund competition. And now full credit is given to David for his secret ingredients which make his hors d'oeuvres super perfect.

DAVID'S EASY PATE (Serves 4-6)

1 can (10½ oz.) consomme; 1 can commercial liver pate; 1 envelope plain gelatin; tiny cocktail tomatoes called Tom-Oliv.

Heat undiluted consomme over low fire. Dissolve gelatin in small amount of consomme, then add this to rest of consomme and heat until thoroughly dissolved. Do not allow to boil. In fluted small mold put the tiny cocktail tomatoes into each little groove in bottom of mold. Carefully spoon enough jelled consomme just to cover the tomatoes. Put in freezer until firm. This will take about 15 minutes. Pour the rest of consomme in mold. Freeze until very firm. Do not allow crystals to form. With grapefruit knife carve out hollow in center of mold leaving a thick shell. Do not cut into bottom. Melt half of the scooped out consomme and add it to the liver pate. Whirl together in electric blender or use rotary beater until creamy consistency. Fill empty center. Pour rest of consomme over top to seal. Place in refrigerator until ready to unmold and serve. Pass spreaders, crackers, melba toast, crisp raw vegetables. Exquis! You may want to use tiny pickled mushrooms or stuffed olives in place of the c-t tomatoes. Seasoning the pate with cognac is very French but bourbon or sherry will also add zest.

The following aspic is one that David invented as a gift to his near neighbor, Sister Mary Benedictine, who shares this rare treat with the nuns at the Carmelite Monastery.

CARMELITE CLAM MOLD (Serves 16)

2 pkgs. plain gelatin; 1 can minced clams; 1 ripe avocado; 2½ cups buttermilk; dash of Tabasco; lemon juice and onion salt to taste; chopped parsley and chives.

Dissolve gelatin in juice drained from minced clams and ½ cup buttermilk. When dissolved, add to this a cut up peeled avocado. Sprinkle with lemon juice and onion salt to taste. Whirl in electric blender or use rotary beater, adding rest of buttermilk gradually. Place in 4-6 cup mold, chill until firm. Scoop out center as in previous recipe for David's easy pate. Remelt half of this and add minced clams, parsley and chives. Fill cavity. Chill until firm. Pour rest of melted mixture over top to seal. Unmold at serving. These two recipes may also be served in the form of salad surrounded by greens of your choice. Pass mayonnaise or sour cream with crackers if desired. As a variation also suitable for the Lenten season, the clams may be replaced by tiny canned cocktail shrimp and/or red caviar. If you are in a special decorative mood, you could make three layers each between a gelatin layer; seafood consists of minced clams, shrimp and red caviar. Do not forget to add gelatin mixture into each concoction.

David's appetizing hors d'oeuvres was followed by Sesame Swordfish and Emerald Spinach.

SESAME SWORDFISH AND EMERALD SPINACH

Marinate swordfish in fresh lemon or lime juice for an hour. Salmon and halibut steaks are splendid this way also. Melt a little butter in a Teflon pan over medium heat. Put in the fish and cover pan, cooking until light brown on each side and fish flakes with silver fork without overcooking. Season with salt and pepper.

The spinach is undercooked so that it retains its brilliant emerald color. Use the kind which comes ready to cook in a plastic bag that contains butter sauce. When just done, drain and put in electric blender with a bit of onion juice, pieces of butter, blue or cream cheese, Beau Monde seasoning and freshly ground black pepper. Add salt to taste. Blend in mixer. If desired you may thicken this with a small amount of flour or cornstarch. Serve immediately or reheat in double boiler. You may garnish the spinach with sliced hard cooked egg and lemon quarters. Sometimes it is fancy to fill large broiled fresh mushroom caps with the hot spinach or yet another of David's fancies is a

French Consul Will Speak In Carmel

Claude Batault, the French consul general in San Francisco, will speak on "France's Position in Europe Today, and Her Common Market Problems" at tomorrow night's World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula meeting.

The session will start at 8 p.m., in Brey Hall at the Carmel High School.

Batault, a one time Free French Forces fighter, bears the title "conseiller des affaires etrangeres first class." He entered France's diplomatic service at the end of World War II and since has served in these assignments:

Secretary of the French embassy in Baghdad; press service ministry of foreign affairs, in Paris; economic affairs ministry of foreign affairs, also in Paris; deputy director, International Unions Division Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Paris; consul general of France in Denver, Colorado and head of the information service, ministry of foreign affairs.

large boiled artichoke heart filled with the spinach.

Even bachelors like to keep in trim for a summer on the beach and David assures us that the balanced meals he serves are very low in carbohydrates. He follows the Drinking Man's Diet but without the drinks, excepting for an occasional small glass of dry white wine with his dinner. It has worked wonders for him and he candidly admits he loves to eat, even as you and I. For dessert David uses Jello mixed your favorite way with Diet Pak fruit or fresh fruit and cheese. Bread or crackers and other starches are eliminated but artificial sweetening satisfies a sweet tooth. The amazing thing is that butter and bacon are used without a guilty conscience. So if you want to lose weight with a minimum of will power and a great deal of enjoyment try this delightful method (after consulting your doctor!) A wonderful way to curb your bon appetit!

Viola DeCamp

Private Episcopal services were held Tuesday in the Mission Mortuary chapel for Mrs. Viola B. DeCamp, who died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Douglas (Virginia) Beattie of Carmel. Although she had been under a physician's care, her death was unexpected.

A Carmel resident for the past nine years, she was born April 15, 1877, in Champaign, Illinois.

Mrs. DeCamp and her husband, the late Frank H. DeCamp, were former residents of San Francisco and Porterville. Following the death of Mr. DeCamp in 1959, she made her home here with her daughter.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. DeCamp leaves three brothers, G. M. Booker of Berkeley, James W. Booker of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and Paul R. Booker of Visalia; four granddaughters, among them Mrs. Donald Rowe of Carmel; and six great-grandchildren.

Friends wishing to make contribution in memory of Mrs. DeCamp, a dedicated nature conservationist, may do so to the Save the Redwoods League, 114 Sansome Street, San Francisco.

The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Let us first consider two books dealing with two phases of the process of growing older, which process we all begin the day we are born. The first is a medical book written by Doctor Robert Rothenburg, who has several other books on medical subjects already published. This one is the question and answer type, but the natural objection to such a book is overcome by an alphabetical list of subjects handled in the front of the book and a very good index in the back of the book. Oh yes, the title of the book is HEALTH IN THE LATER YEARS. All questions are answered concisely and there are cross references in it to aid the reader who wishes to get all the information possible on any given subject.

The second book was written by Horace Greeley Smith and is entitled DON'T RETIRE FROM LIFE. Right here let us note that this book is printed in large type. If you hate to wear your glasses, borrow it and sail through it reading as you did when a child, minus your glasses. The author begins by saying that even if you have retired you should not retire from life. Mr. Smith retired twelve years ago and he sees retirement as a major climax in his life, a continental divide in his experience. He has a great deal of good advice for retirees all of which is backed up by his own experience.

THE MAKING OF A MIND is composed of letters written by Pierre Teilhard de Chardin during the time he participated in the first World War. He was already an ordained priest and he served as a stretcher bearer during the war. The letters were written to his cousin with whom he had been close friends since childhood. They reveal plainly the thoughts and emotions of a religious man under danger and stress.

Mickey Rooney tells the story of his life in I.E., AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY. He says he wrote it himself and he must have done so because somehow it sounds like him. This is his whole story from the days when he was a child star and had the world with a fence around it, all through the days when his career hit rock bottom, and then began to rise again. He tells of his five marriages, of how he went bankrupt after having earned twelve million dollars and spent almost all of it. In fact, Mickey tells all. Very well, too.

So often gardening books are aimed for people living in a general sort of climate. Comes now a book for this climate and soil and its title is GARDENING BY THE SEA. Daniel Foley wrote it and in it are described plants and shrubs which love salt spray and sandy soils. There are loads of pictures, some reproduced in color. This book is full of information about grateful plants. Give them a chance and they do the rest!

Just in case you were unable to take a planned trip to Europe this year, try a wonderful journey to the Appalachians and before you go read THE APPALACHI-

ANS by Maurice Brooks. These beautiful mountains stretch from the Gaspe to Georgia and are among the oldest mountains on earth. Included in the Appalachian train are such historic ranges as the Great Smokies, the Catskills, and the Blue Ridge Mountains. This is a fascinating book, telling of the land, the people, the vegetation, the arts and crafts. Some of the illustrations are in color. Beautiful. Enticing.

There is new fiction also and many other non-fiction pieces you should not miss. Consult the blackboard listing.

"Berlin—City of Freedom," a lecture illustrated with slides, will be delivered by Rolf Goetze at the Monterey Peninsula College next Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Armory. The public is invited to attend without charge. No tickets will be required for admission.

In this country as a guest of the federal press office of the Bonn Government and now on a lecture tour of Canada and the Western United States, Goetze is an editor-author for the America-sponsored radio station, RIAS (Radio in the American Sector) in West Berlin.

A well-known expert on Berlin's cultural and political history, he has established a private collection of Berlin books, files, documents, newspaper clippings and old and modern photographs. This collection, known as the Goetze Archives, has become a reference source for journalists seeking detailed information on the city.

As a photographer, Goetze has set up a unique collection of more than 12,000 color slides on Berlin, including the Eastern sector.

He was born in Berlin in 1921 and worked in the film business after graduation from high school until he was drafted in 1941. In 1944 he was captured by General George Patton's troops in France. He spent two years in U.S. prisoner-of-war camps in Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, serving as interpreter for the camp commanders. Chosen for attendance at the U.S. Special Project Center, Fort Eustis, Va., he graduated and was released to Germany in 1946. He then became associated with RIAS.

He had two successful lecture tours throughout the United States in 1962 and 1964, and he has toured the African continent twice as a lecturer.

Art News

Pottery by Marguerite Wildenhain will be on exhibit at the American Federation of Arts Gallery February 16, 17 and 18. At the same time, the noted artist will be Artist in Residence at Monterey Peninsula College, where a motion picture about her work will be shown February 18 at 8 p.m.

Miss Wildenhain studied at the Bauhaus School in Dessau, Germany, and has exhibited widely throughout the United States.

An invitational preview in the gallery will be given by Miss Wildenhain's friends, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bissanz, on Wednesday.

At the January board meeting of the American Federation of Arts, Leonard Heller was reelected president, and Steve Crouch, first vice president. Mrs. William Oberholtzer is the new second vice president, Mrs. Robert J. Hill, third vice president and Mrs. Walter Jennings, treasurer. Also reelected were Mrs. Roderick Dewar, recording secretary and Mrs. Marian Messier, corresponding secretary.

On display through February 20 at the Laky Galleries are paintings by Jan J. Toma, an Assyrian artist from Iran, entitled "Impressions of Argentina." Toma's initial art training was an apprenticeship with Andre Gualievich of the Leningrad Academy.

This relationship, he feels, helped him form an early foundation of artistic concepts and was a unique experiment of applying the ideas of the academic school of Europe to oriental motifs and aesthetic expression. After obtaining his formal education, the artist moved to Europe for a combined educational and exhibition tour in major art centers.

He later moved to Argentina where, with the exception of short periods during exhibitions in Buenos Aires and other major cities, he settled in the extreme northern part of the country. There, Toma says, in the simplicity of native life untouched by the complexities of civilization, he found the answers that Europe could not provide.

He found, as he puts it, "a symphony of life where man and nature are closely knit in harmony." In that environment he was attracted to the native Indians by their nobility of character, reserved, and yet sincere friendliness, and colorful vestment. Toma devoted nearly five years to painting them and the various aspects of their life.

"Beauty in Wilderness," a photographic exhibit of color prints of wilderness scenes, accompanied by a brief text from the tape-recorded program of the same name, will be extended through February in Lovell White Hall in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Photographer and author of "Beauty in Wilderness" is C. Edward Graves of Carmel and the exhibit is sponsored by the California Academy of Sciences.

By popular request, an exhibit of paintings, drawings and lithographs by Nicolai Fechin at the American Federation of Arts gallery will be continued through February 28. In addition, the AFA is showing selections from its permanent collection which includes paintings by Moses and Raphael Soyer, John Sloan, Louis Ellshemius, Tancredi Parmeggiani and Bernard LaMotte as well as works by artists of this area.

A one-man show of paintings and drawings by local artist Joe Ataide will be on display at the Carmel Art Association gallery through this month. The 18 works are roughly divided into paintings of figures and semi-abstract studies drawing upon nature forms. Ataide has exhibited widely and is represented in numerous private collections.

Also on view during February are works of the artist members of the association.

Showing through March 6 at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History is an exhibition of prize-winning underwater colored photographs titled "Skindiver's World" by Nathan Lawrence of Pacific Grove and Helmut Stellrecht of San Jose. The photographs are all of subjects found by the skindivers along the California coast and were taken at depths down to 100 feet.

The prints in the exhibition have won top honors at two major photographic shows, the Biological Photographers of America contest and the seventh International Underwater Film Festival.

Lawrence and Stellrecht have been photographing marine life for over four years. The experience gained during that time has enabled them to present a vivid realization of what draws the skindiver again and again to the underwater scene.

Like the landbound photographers these two young men have self-imposed restrictions on their activity. They feel that it is important that all animals be shown in their natural habitat, and none were drugged, moved, or molested in any way.

Nate Lawrence, who received his education at San Jose State College and holds a degree in biological science, recently moved to the Monterey Peninsula to continue his underwater studies of sea life. Helmut Stellrecht is a senior engineering student at the University of California. His activities in marine photography include designing and building camera housings and other photographic equipment for use underwater.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Soul" as another name for God will be the subject of Christian Science services this Sunday throughout the world. The sermon will be made up of Biblical references read alternately with corresponding passages from the denomination's textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Bible references will be taken from some of the best-loved Psalms, including this verse: "The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever."

This related statement in Science and Health also will be considered: "From Love and from the light and harmony which are the abode of Spirit, only reflections of good can come."

ARTS COMMISSION PLANS SPRING TOURING PROGRAM

The California Arts Commission announced today that its pilot touring program will go into effect this Spring. In this program, the commission will share, with local organizations, the cost of bringing highest quality professional touring performances and exhibitions to communities all over the state.

Attractions will include one, and possibly two plays, an orchestra, a chamber music group, and an art exhibit.

Communities desiring to participate in this program are encouraged to contact the commission at its Los Angeles office, 10889 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles 24, telephone: 477-4597.

HELP SOUGHT FOR ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

The Friends of Art in Carmel, an auxiliary organization to the Carmel Arts Commission, has been formed to help with the events planned in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of Carmel-by-the-Sea. Forms are being circulated by which those interested may indicate the type of assistance they wish to offer. People may also write to the organization in care of Carmel Arts Commission, Box 1500, Carmel.

Mrs. Barbara Norberg, commission chairman, reports that a number of festivities are in the planning stage for the anniversary which falls on Halloween.

Candida Perez

Requiem mass was celebrated yesterday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Salinas for Mrs. Candida M. Perez, a former resident of Carmel for 19 years. Mrs. Perez died Monday in Salinas, where she had made her home for the past year, after a brief illness.

She was born in Asturia, Spain, April 1, 1893. Prior to her Carmel residence, she was for many years the operator of a Salinas motel.

Mrs. Perez leaves two sons, Raymond of Carmel and John of Salinas; two daughters, Mrs. Carl Pazos of Vallejo and Mrs. Marina Berrido of Spain; and ten grandchildren.

Entombment took place in the Garden of Memories Cemetery, Salinas.

John Pancher

Word has been received of the sudden death on Sunday of John Thomas Pancher, father of Carmel real estate and insurance man Henry Pancher, who is also an artist. Mr. Pancher died after a heart attack at his home near Nashville, Tennessee.

In addition to his son Henry, he leaves two other sons and two daughters.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Van Leer, Tennessee. Burial followed in a cemetery in that city.

TROOP 2069 RECEIVES PINS

Members of Girl Scout Troop 2069 of Carmel were presented with their pins in a solemn candlelight investiture ceremony last week.

The event, held at the home of troop leader, Mrs. Ed Catey, was attended by parents and guests of the girls. Mrs. Norman McBride is assistant leader of the troop which consists of girls from Woods and River schools.

Receiving their pins were Marilyn Aldrich, Claire Carter, Marie Catey, Ann Cherry, Liane Gillette, Catherine Graff, Stephanie Hamilton, Heidi Lawitzke, Laura Martinez, Vicki McBride, Elizabeth McGinley, Lori Miller and Melynda Miller.

ENCOURAGE ATHLETICS

A meeting, sponsored by the Carmel Boosters Club for the purpose of encouraging and assisting the athletic program at Carmel High School, will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the music room of the high school. Everyone is invited to attend the meeting and a showing of basketball movies of Carmel games.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

Miss Joan Peacock will be installed as president of Monterey Bay Panhellenic on Saturday at a luncheon at 1 p.m. at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Other officers to be installed are Mrs. Thomas Barbao, vice president; Mrs. Chester W. Smith, second vice president; Mrs. George E. Toole Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Robert Petersen, recording secretary; Miss Mildred Kock, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. W. Inlay, advisor.

Reservation may be made by phoning Mrs. Richard Snibble (372-6864) or Mrs. Thomas Barbao (375-6342).

TOWN HOUSE EVENTS

Carl Bensberg of Carmel will present a musical program at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday at 3 p.m. He will sing three songs by Schubert, Mendelssohn, Schumann; two Negro spirituals and "Carissima" by Penn. He will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Howard Marshall.

Tea will be served at 4 p.m. and all interested persons are welcome.

For all interested Senior Citizens, the Monterey Peninsula Senior Tours have a trip planned for Death Valley leaving March 8 and returning the 13th. They will visit Reno, Stovepipe Wells, Las Vegas, and Bakersfield. A few vacancies are left and further information may be obtained by calling 624-1588.

CARMEL RATES HIGH IN BANKCARD USE

Carmel apparently has the highest ratio of cardholders of any community in the Monterey Bay area, according to estimates compiled by Bank of America.

Approximately 1 in every 5 Carmel residents is a holder of the bank's statewide credit card, a spot check of the bank's records reveals. This compares to a ratio of 1 in every 14 Californians, said Donald R. McBride, assistant vice president and Northern California manager for BankAmerica.

"The apparently heavier usage here," he said, "probably reflects the area's economic status. Generally, we found greatest popularity of the card among persons in middle and high income groups, living in heavily settled areas where opportunities to use it are greatest."

Ratios for cities checked in this area were: Carmel, 1 in 5; Santa Cruz, 1 in 9; Monterey, 1 in 9.5; Pacific Grove, 1 in 9.5; Watsonville, 1 in 9.6; Salinas, 1 in 10.3 and Seaside, 1 in 14.

Drinking By Carmel High Students Brings Suspension For 13

Thirteen students of the Carmel High School—most of them members of the junior varsity basketball team and cheer leaders—have been suspended for two weeks because they appeared at a basketball game two weeks ago "under the influence."

When they return to classes, Principal Warren Edwards said it will not be as members of the team, or the rally crew, but as students.

Several others in athletics were asked by their coaches if they had "broken training," and eight admitted they, too, had been drinking, but not necessarily in the same incident as that involving the 13 who appeared at the King City-Carmel basketball game with liquor on their breaths.

The eight were told to turn in their uniforms, but no administrative action was taken against them.

At a meeting of the student body on Tuesday, Edwards told the students of the incident, and of the action taken against the offenders. He said the administrative action was taken after 13 of the suspects had admitted their guilt.

"There are several others who are just as guilty, but who didn't get caught," the principal said. "Those who did admit their guilt, have been stripped of all school responsibilities and suspended. Those who did not will, I'm sure, receive the full censure of their friends and schoolmates on the campus, and this, I feel, will hurt just as much as any official action on our part."

Edwards said he will ask the student council to draft some manner of "code of conduct" for the student body.

"Those who were found out this time were extremely lucky that there was no tragedy as an aftermath of their drinking," he said. "Some of them could easily be lying in a hospital now, mangled."

Edwards said he will seek student council guidance and help in a letter he proposes to draft for mailing to parents of all the high school students outlining the problem and asking the parents' help in quelling teen-age drinking.

"There have been such incidents before," he said, "but nothing so aggravated as this. We feel this time it has gone too far, and that too many students are involved."

Those suspended are sophomores, juniors and seniors, and some are school leaders. Some freshmen are included among the eight asked by the coaches to turn in their uniforms.

Mrs. John S. Coates, secretary-treasurer of the council, asked how the funds from the sale of Sunset School ($550,000) had been used. Bearing in mind future building needs to replace the loss of Sunset, Bair replied the board of education elected to place the amount in the capital outlay fund. (By state law, such proceeds may not be invested for more than a period of 30 days.)

The sum has been used partially for construction of Brey Hall and needed classrooms at Carmel High School and in financing eight classrooms at Middle School. A new library center at Carmelo School has also been approved.

The only agreement between Bair and those present was that taxes are high, they may have reached a saturation point for the homeowner and that it would be desirable to find sources other than real estate from which to raise funds to operate the schools. The superintendent, however, emphasized that he is dedicated to following the philosophy of the board of education whose prime purpose is to develop the intellectual faculties of each pupil. The people of the district, he added, must decide whether they want a mediocre or first class school system.

Yesterday, The Pine Cone received a phone call from Mrs. Coates, who asserted that many calls had been received indicating dissatisfaction with Bair's presentation, also others from suburban areas requesting an explanation, on a dollars and cents basis, of how funds of the 70 cent override tax are to be used. The Pine Cone has ascertained that all pertinent figures will be made available by the CUSD. J.V.

Council Wants Another Look At Civic Center, Downtown Parking

A proposal that the electorate decide, in the April election, if a mayor and four councilmen should be elected outright, instead of the council naming its own leader.

Also killed was a proposed resolution changing the allocations of Carmel's hostelry tax to hasten the retirement of the Sunset bonds, but another one backing other Monterey Peninsula cities in objecting to the pollution of Monterey Bay by drain waters from the San Joaquin Valley and the Sacramento Delta country was approved.

Getting back to the debate on the civic center and the contract with the architects, Norberg challenged this lack of a formal agreement before plans were started. So did Carvel Baldwin, a retired banker who has announced his candidacy as councilman.

"You're putting the cart before the horse," Baldwin asserted.

"We have an oral contract with the architects, and, in my opinion, we are legally bound to pay their bill," countered Grant. "We authorized the start of plans in 1965, now we should pay for them."

As far as questioning the plans as drawn, and received last night, Acting Mayor James C. Buffington, Jr., declared "I wouldn't know what I was looking at, and neither would you. Neither of us is an architect."

Norberg stuck by his guns, however, that the building cost estimates were too high, and so are the fees charged to the city. "I've never been told about the higher building costs," he said.

One of the two street lights authorized will be erected on the west side of Dolores near Ocean, and the other will go on the east side nearer Seventh.

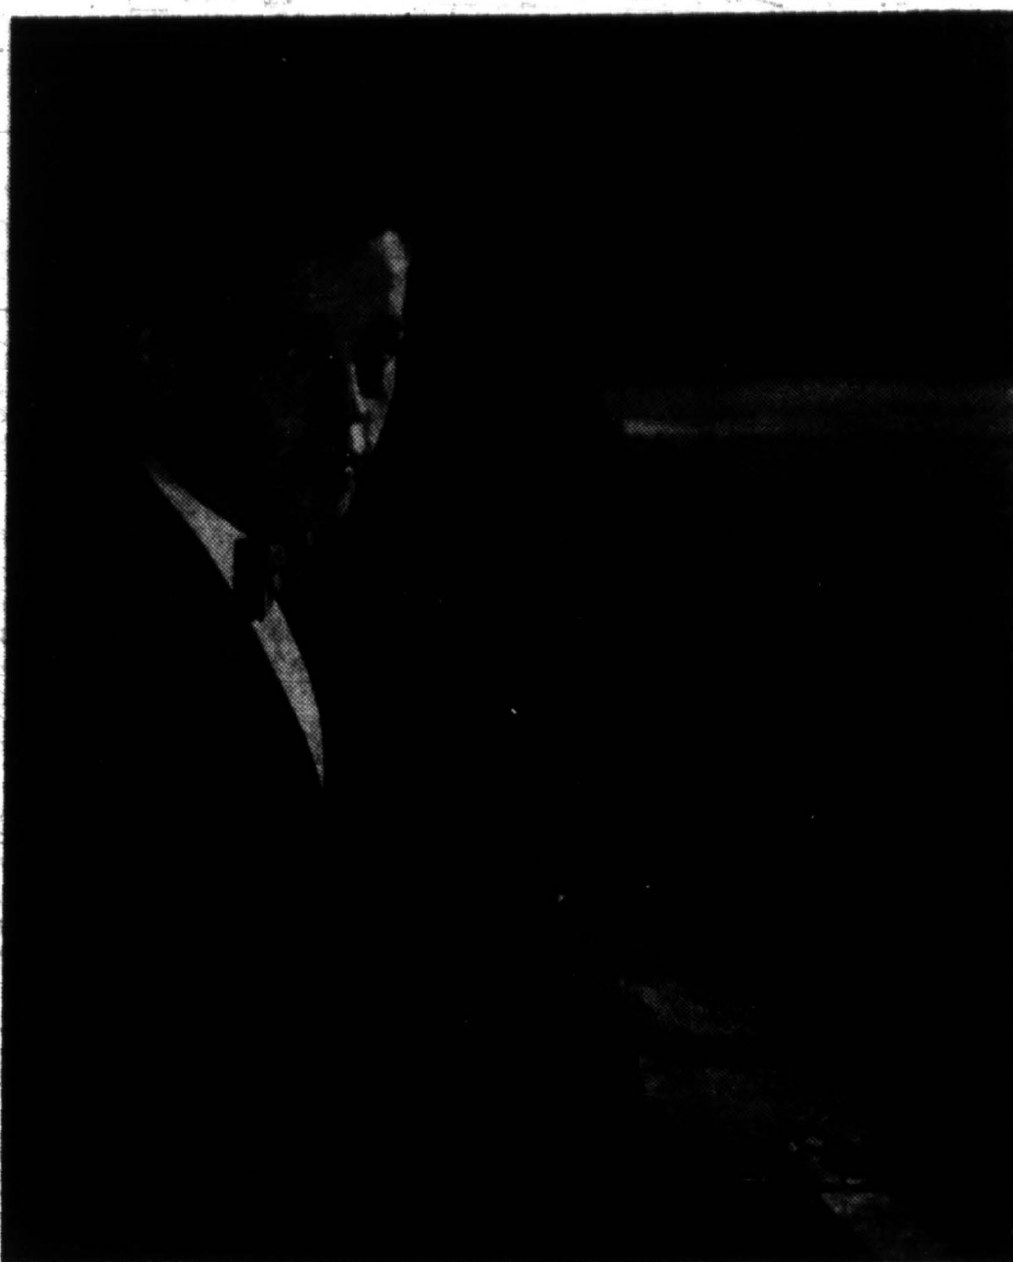

Mayor Herbert B. Blanks was absent due to illness. City Clerk Hugh Bayless and others of the official city family were present. Buffington presided at the four-hour session.

MENTAL HEALTH DINNER MEETING

Guest speaker for the annual dinner meeting of the Monterey County Association for Mental Health will be Dr. James J. Tschudy, chief clinical psychologist at the psychiatric clinic in Salinas. Dr. Tschudy will speak on "Childhood Mental Illness: Fact or Fantasy."

The dinner meeting will take place at the Outrigger on Cannery Row on Wednesday at 7 p.m., preceded by a social hour beginning at 6 p.m.

Reservations may be made at $3.75 per person by calling 372-1481.

Pianist and song stylist Jerry Winters, in the tradition of "local boy makes good," will appear tomorrow night on the Nightcap Show of Herb Jepko, Radio KSL, Salt Lake City. The program will be beamed from the Utah Hotel ballroom in Salt Lake and runs from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Winters, who has been appearing nightly at Mark Thomas' Outrigger on Cannery Row, has been invited to be a featured entertainer on the anniversary show of the Nightcap, a national service club whose 52,000 members include many of the big-name entertainers in the United States. A versatile musician and arranger, he is well known here through his night club engagements as well as his concert appearances.

Among the 72 regional Nightcap chapters in the United States is the local group, "Cypress Night Stand," organized by Mrs. Bob (Marian) Fischer of Carmel, who, with her co-workers, has arranged several excellent concerts for good but unknown artists here.

Editor's Column . . .

Almost sorrowfully, the first motion was withdrawn, and another one made—to allow the property owner to remove the tree, down to and including the root system. The vote was almost unanimous.

And so it went, for almost two hours on a cold blustery Carmel day as the council went about this, to an outsider, most unique manner of taking care of city problems. They told a resident on Seventh Street near Casanova she could have a rain-gutted sidewalk running past her home repaired, if she wanted to pay half the costs. She joyfully agreed.

A towering pine tree, bowed at the top, had been playing hob with some electric power lines. But the tree was healthy, and it was more of a thing of aesthetic pleasure than it was a nuisance. It was spared.

Another resident on Camino Real, who had acted to stop erosion of a planted area bordering the street by erecting a retaining wall and some steps, was chided for not asking permission first. It seems his wall encroaches several feet onto city property.

After the not-too-stern lecture, he was allowed to sign a statement absolving you, the taxpayers, from any legal action resulting from his act. His wall will stay.

There may well be other cities whose governing bodies take the time, and have the patience, to make on-site visits of problem areas, but none has come to our attention. Just knowing it is done in Carmel-by-the-Sea, somehow adds to our delight in being, for the time being anyway, a part of it. By K.M.K.

Judge Harris had been deliberating the application for a writ of mandate, asking the board of supervisors to rescind the permit or hold an election, since November 24. In this application, Burleigh, the Six Cities Fund's attorney, had said that by allowing a refinery at Moss Landing, the supervisors took a legislative step subject to a voters' referendum.

In his decision, Judge Harris commented:

"This court is unable to follow the petitioners' contention that there has been any 'change of policy' relative to the construction of refineries in Monterey County."

"The policy of permitting their construction subject only to permit conditions has been in effect for more than 20 years."

A petition circulated throughout the county, signed by some 12,500 residents, asked for a referendum, but the board turned it down. Conceivably, these 12,500 will again start working behind the leadership of people like Church and Mrs. Lillian Churchill, both of whom believe strongly that the "will of these people, once expressed, has not changed."

Mrs. Churchill, a member of the Six Cities executive board, echoes Burleigh's comment that "the fight is not yet over." She said, too, "we're as disappointed as we can be, but we're not beaten, yet."

Others have reflected a sentiment expressed by Supervisor Tom Hudson of Point Lobos:

"We feel the refinery would be a disaster to the county, we want to continue to bring home to Humble Oil the county's feeling on the subject."

Church noted the organization he heads will continue to welcome contributions. These may be sent to Box 1915 in Carmel.

Enrollment Up In Carmel Schools

(Continued from Page One) media under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and adopted a proposed policy for the selection of such materials.

Authorized, too, was permission to employ substitute teachers with credential variance. "On occasion," Bair remarked, "we have so many people absent because of illness that we cannot find a certified person to substitute." There are, however, according to the administration report, substitute teachers for a specific area who are qualified in the subject but who do not have the necessary credential. In each instance, the request stated, the principal will have made every attempt to employ a credentialed teacher in the subject area.

The board, again by unanimous consent, approved revision of board rules and regulations in chapter III relative to all employees, also the school calendar for 1966-67.

Following debate on the merits of installation of a central switchboard system for the district, the board elected to defer consideration of the matter until such time as the budget may justify the additional expense. "This is a low priority item," trustee Clayton Neill Jr. remarked. Dr. Hilton Bialek said that he would rather see the same amount "spent for a new teacher, or additional science materials."

and talking over problems, rather than ignoring them. The ignored problems grow into civic battles. I would much rather get all the facts in matters of controversy before taking a stand on them, and this I promise to do if I am elected."

The Jensens are members of the Sierra Club and are ardent weekend back-packers. Mrs. Jensen, a registered nurse, is a member of the visiting nurse staff in Carmel.

Baldwin, Jensen Will Seek Council Seats

(Continued from Page One) for Clean Air and was chairman for the speakers bureau of that group. I am presently working with the Six Cities Fund Group in raising funds for our continuing struggle with Humble Oil Co. I am chairman for the Klenke Committee of Carmel, and active in forming a new group to be named 'Carmel Beautiful.' My wife and I are Episcopalians and attend St. John's, Del Monte.

"After attending city council meetings for the past two years, Sunset Commission and planning commission meetings, and being urged by many friends and business people to consider running for city council, I have made my decision to run based on the fact that I have time and desire to serve the community of Carmel by giving of myself to aid in keeping this beautiful community, the place we came to retire, because we could have chosen any place that we wanted to live.

"I shall do everything within my power to run a tight ship and shall be working on the budget to make sure that the tax payers get all the relief possible from ever increasing taxation of real property in Carmel.

A native of Denmark, Jensen was graduated from the Vilvorde College in Copenhagen with a degree in horticulture. For nearly 20 years he worked in research, as well as the import and export business in Holland and Switzerland before coming to the United States.

In Chicago he met his future bride, Ruth, and they planned to seek their futures in New Zealand or in Australia. But this was before he came to Carmel for a visit. He and Ruth were married in Salinas, and decided that the Monterey Peninsula would be home.

Jensen said he believes there are two sides to all questions, and he proposes to listen to both before arriving at any decisions. He tells why he will be a candidate for councilman:

"I am a member of the city's ambulance crew, as well as doing my part as a volunteer firefighter. Since becoming an American citizen five years ago, I have been impressed with the thought that it is the duty of every citizen to take an active part in politics.

"I strongly favor sitting down
